Investment Summary

For the month ending 30 June 2020

General Market Commentary

The Covid-19 pandemic is expected to adversely affect the world's economies but New Zealand is likely to perform better than most, according to a credit ratings agency. A review by S&P Global said the recession would be uneven across the Asia Pacific region and New Zealand would be among the countries to escape with less permanent damage, the agency said.

New Zealand shares continued a strong recovery hitting a four-month high as some investors were encouraged by better-than-expected US jobs data and continued central bank support. US stocks ended the second quarter on a strong note, with gains across the board. The S&P 500 recorded the index's best quarter in over 20 years, with the index increasing 20% for the 3 months to 30 June 2020.

Meanwhile, in the UK, Britons have been told that they can visit more than 70 overseas destinations without having to self-isolate for 14 days on their return as Parliament erase their quarantine policy. Much of the UK appears to be returning to normal with retail stores turning a solid trade, pubs reopening, the English Premier League resuming, and Formula 1 back on track. Disappointingly, this return to normal has not translated into a NZD/GBP exchange rate improvement with the exchange rate languishing below $2 to the GBP.
